FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The employment-based visa petition was initially approved by the Director, California Service Center. Upon subsequent review, the director properly issued a notice of intent to revoke, and ultimately revoked the approval of the petition. The matter is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be summarily dismissed.

The petitioner is engaged in importing food products and meat processing for distribution in California, Texas and Illinois. It seeks classification of the beneficiary as an employment-based immigrant pursuant to section 203(b)(1)(C) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1153(b)(1)(C), as a multinational executive or manager. The director determined that the petitioner's claimed parent company was not doing business overseas and that the petitioner no longer met the definition of multinational company.

8 C.F.R. 103.3(a)(1)(v) states, in pertinent part:

An officer to whom an appeal is taken shall summarily dismiss any appeal when the party concerned fails to identify specifically any erroneous conclusion of law or statement of fact for the appeal.

In the brief attached to the Form I-290B Notice of Appeal, filed in November of 1999, counsel states that "the petitioner and the beneficiary do not attempt to rebut the Service's right to revoke the I-140." Counsel continues by noting that the petitioner does dispute the allegation that the I-140 was filed fraudulently.

We note that the Service had not determined at the time the notice of revocation was issued that the petitioner had committed fraud by filing the I-140, Immigrant Petition for Alien Worker. The record before the Associate Commissioner does not provide further information or evidence on this issue and will not be examined further.

However, inasmuch as counsel does not identify specifically an erroneous conclusion of law or a statement of fact as a basis for the appeal, and instead acknowledges the Service's decision to revoke the approval of the petition was correct, the regulations mandate the summary dismissal of the appeal.

ORDER: The appeal is summarily dismissed.
